Long Time Gone

Triumph

You say you're not afraid behind your walls of pride They keep the world away but something's trapped inside I'll go any way the wind blows And you know the storm comes and the river will run You better hold on to the moment Cause it may never come again

Long time gone Where do we go from here Long time gone away..

The voice of reason begs the fighting takes its toll You're bangin' big square pegs into little round holes But I'll go anyplace your heart goes and you know The music plays and the heart obeys

You gotta keep this thing together But you don't know the why or how It's getting hard to find forever In the state of here and now
