Time of Revelation

Won't you take A chance my brother Follow me to a time of revelation Can't you see that Destiny will take a turn And show you There's no need to fight 'Cause you know it's right

And I finally see where I'm going I finally know what I'm knowing Now our journey's only just begun

You won't need to ask forgiveness What you find Will be your inspiration You don't have to pray for glory All is equal, no more pain You know it's true, it's up to you

'Cause I finally see where I'm going I finally know what I'm knowing Now our journey's only just begun

Over the bridge Where you start to believe Down at the edge of the rainbow Dark is the night But we've seen another time Follow the light of the shadow

Right or wrong, there is no reason There will be no hidden destination With the strength that you discover You can show the way How it was meant to be For all to see

'Cause I finally know What I'm knowing I finally see where I'm going Now our journey's only just begun Uriah Heep