

I see angels in your eyes innocence is your beauty lose that what will you be left with go on and find yourself in the vastness of your world but when it divides you always come back to innocence everyone loves a good child behave and never swear at the hand that feeds we will never be able to hide behind those eyes so just bat your lashes and we'll always be safe until we find a new cause