The Estrangement

13 ENGINES

Time is so hard to find when your occupied Lost in my own world, I didn't notice what's happening Last time that I saw you I said things That I didn't mean and now I wish I could take them back But that was long ago and now it's today And it's much too late Though God knows I would change the past if I could

Weather is changing again, animals are moving in new directions When you coming home, it's been too long Don't be such a stranger, I'd love to see you soon Do you remember me, well I remember you Won't you come to me

I want to see you so bad I want to be with you right now