

I Will Always Find You

1997

I found another naked moment
A new forever kind of love
I traced the sunrise, rode upon it
And wrote another song about it

In the sun and in the rain and in the day and in the night
I will always find you

You're tired of keeping us together
I'm pushing harder for your heart
You could not bear to face it sober
My love is pulling us apart

In the sun and in the rain and in the day and in the night
I will always find you

(because i) still wanna love you
Still feel the same tonight
I'm still dreaming of you
Still wanna try

I'm barely keeping it together
This hurt is harder than your heart
How could you say that it was over
We didn't even get a start

In the sun and in the rain and in the day and in the night
I will always find you

Still wanna love you
Still feel the same tonight
I'm still dreaming of you
Still wanna try

Just tell me who would want me now
You've taken part of who i am
Just tell me who would even look
At a ruined shell
Who's hanging by a string
Of all the empty words you speak
I'll listen to them till the end of time
Just keep your face in front of mine

In the sun and in the rain and in the day and in the night
I will always find you

Still wanna love you
Still feel the same tonight
I'm still dreaming of you
Still wanna try

Still wanna love you
Still feel the same tonight
I'm still dreaming of you
Still wanna try
