

you want so much for everyone to like you for who you really are but you care about it so much you won't be yourself but I know you feel so much better than that and I know you would not have to let someone else do this bullshit to you what I want to know is why you let those fucking wankers talk to you like that what makes you think they are so kool

you want so much for everyone
to like you for who you really are
but you care about it so much
you won't be yourself
is it because for them everything seems to go so well not like you because you struggle for everything like hell let me tell you I respect that because it's easy when it's easy

what makes you think they are so kool