

Into darkness our descending
Searching for a time never ending
Still I promise to continue
Trying to see the good left within you

There's a battle cry on the battlefield
Now that you and I have our hearts revealed
How many times must the blood thieves
Drink us dry?

Back and forth the titans turn their
World to ashes, lightning crashes
Searchers through a grand illusion
Numbers falling, mass confusion
One by one by one

In a violence of pretending
It's hard to know which side you're defending
Still I know you must continue
Trying to win a war waged within you

There's a battle cry on the battlefield
Now that you and I have our hearts revealed
How many times must the blood thieves
Drink us dry?

Back and forth the titans turn their
World to ashes, lightning crashes once upon a
Midnight's turning
Nightmares march on, dreams still burning
One by one by one

There's a battle cry on the battlefield
Now that you and I have our hearts revealed
How many times must the blood thieves
Drink us dry?