Champagne

I will never understand you when will I stop trying I mean, cuz it's just not how I planned to spend my time til' dying

I mean, champagne California on the brain she's got an appetite for no refrains just verses, she curses as blood vessels burst in defiance she made an alliance to the dark side of Hollywood where everything looks good so I treat her right as any other player would lightly, then she wants to fight me too bad, that's just too bad I can't be around to pick up your bags and your debts she wants to love me with threats not taking chances, I'm hedging my bets with other girls I'm not providing pearls I'm free, free

I will never understand you when will I stop trying I mean, cuz it's just not how I planned to spend my time til' dying I mean

I know loving me isn't easy I'm home and next thing I'm leaving but when I look at you it's like praying with my eyes I follow you to sleep so I will find your dream place and hey, I'm not an angel but girl you make me feel like I know one, one

Champagne California on the brain she's got an appetite for no refrains just verses, she curses as blood vessels burst in defiance she made an alliance to the dark side of Hollywood where everything looks so good so I treat her right as any other sucker would lightly, then she wants to fight me too bad, that's just too bad I can't be around to pick up your bags and your debts she wants to love me with threats not taking chances, I'm hedging with my bets with other girls I'm not providing pearls I'm free, free never understand