In Your Room

Don't sleep!
I thought I've seen it all
Missing someone never really bothered me at all
I recall
The shadows on the wall, seem to know me better than myself
So here I stay

In your room
I found myself lying on the floor, alone
In your room
In your room
I am not afraid because it feels like home
In your room

Don't sleep tonight, I'm waiting here for you
In your room

Don't sleep tonight, I'm waiting here for you
In your room

You'll be coming home, to a place where only you, and me belong
Don't you run
'Cause now that I have grown, life has offered me a certain way
So here I stay

In your room
I found myself lying on the floor, alone
In your room
In your room
I am not afraid because it feels like home
In your room

Don't sleep tonight, I'm waiting here for you
In your room

Don't sleep tonight, I'm waiting here for you
In your room