Shining light another day turns into night eternal fire waited all my life you take me away million miles away from here take me away find a place for you and me you're taking me higher high as I can be you take me away forever you and me take me away

you take me away

the tears I cry
kept them all inside
i needed time
to make up my mind

you take me away million miles away from here take me away find a place for you and me
