It's cold it's hard and I'm locked inside this I've gone too far I can't rectify this I walk away falling into It's such a shame how I'll miss you I feel shot can you reach me You cannot bring me back And I'll always sink into nothing And I'm on my knees again And I can't believe that it's always Under my skin Don't leave me out, leave me hanging Don't keep me down, down and dragging You're so sure that I won't splinter You're so good, you're so good Shift time to come back in line cause when I tried to embrace my life Gonna dry up was it something you're fed Got you sickened was it something I said All it did was rain
