

Candle In The Rain

4HIM

Heartbreak come, steals the color from my sky
Blue and white, fade to black and gray
Clouds collide, and tears fill up my eyes
Storm winds steal the words I want to pray

But deep inside of me
There is a flame called faith
And though tear drops fall
There is a choice I have made

I will dare to dream about tomorrow
I will hold to hope through all of the pain
I will never surrender to the sorrow
No I will be a candle in the rain

So I'll go on a light that's burning in the dark
Reaching out to others all around

And though lightning strikes
And the thunder rolls
I have no doubt God is still in control

I will dare to dream about tomorrow
I will hold to hope through all of the pain
I will never surrender to the sorrow
No I will be a candle in the rain

I will trust that life is more
Than just what I see before me
And a bright new day is up ahead
Another chapter in the story

I will dare to dream about tomorrow
I will hold to hope through all of the pain
I will never surrender to the sorrow
No I will be a candle in the rain
