

This Time

4HIM

What is this gently piercing my heart?
Why is this aching so familiar?
I must confess
I long for You more Strange as it seems

I'm faithlessly bored Lord, You know I'm tired of playing the prodigal

'Cause it's been so long Since my words broke through It's been so long Since I found a way to touch You

But maybe this time
These words I pray will make their way to You So I'll wait a little longer Maybe this time
I'll trust You for the answers that I need And resign myself to believing
You love me
This time

Your reply sounds of mercy & peace
This is why I'll wait for You, Lord
One whisper of love is well worth the wait
And so I'll keep praying

Watching & waiting
For one word from you Lord hear the prayer from this prodigal