

For The Worst

50 Lions

I'm fighting and finding a way to survive the life I live,
The time have changed for the worst,
Resist against the world,
I'm at war with myself tonight,
Controlled by evil thoughts inside,
In this world of hate there's no peace,
The struggled that we face will never cease,
I'm coming to terms with the facts,
Looking for another way,
The lights that guide the way are all but out,
These are the darkest times,
I'm beginning to see that we'll continue,
To strip the world bare until there's nothing left,
The only peace we find is eternal rest,
Living every day in the face of death.