

Am I man or am I just too keen
To find the mercy
That all men should need.
Hold me now, world backwards.
Riding on the train of hazards.

And if I find myself,
If I find myself, if I find myself
In depression state.
You can bet that I'll be
Heading for the station,
Buying a ticket for
A new destination.

And what I want,
What I want is a dream
To survive in truth.
Is this the one,
Is this the one that will make it
For me and you.

Don't you come after me,
Fight what's gone wrong.
But if you look for me,
I won't be gone.

When I see people
Who hop the train,
Abandoned souls with
Their minds full of pain,
I'll go meet them there
From station to station,
Tell them about my new destination.

And what I want,
What I want is a dream
To survive in truth.
Is this the one,
Is this the one that will make it
For me for you.

Don't you come after me,
To fight what's gone on,
But if you look for me,
I won't be gone.
Don't you come after me,
That would be wrong,
But if you have a dream,
I'll come along.
Don't you come after me,
To fight what's gone on,
But if you look for me,
I won't be gone.
Don't you come after me,
That would be wrong,
But if you have a dream,
I'll come along.

(Humming)