

Last People on Earth

54-40

Who's the lucky one who gets to take you home
Your day is nearly over and you're not alone
Oh the other one who left to keep the change
Changing is easy over the dulling pain
Nothing comes after you didn't know that
Lovers have gone home losers are waiting
Endlessly hunting nothing is happening
Searching for something unknown
Why does tunnel vision claim the beautiful
Distracting our intention to marry the fold
Nothing comes after you didn't know that
Lovers have gone home losers are waiting
Endlessly hunting nothing is happening
Searching for something unknown
Where are they looking objective eyes aren't there
Dear god is now a romance no longer a dare
Lies in the garden a flower who has grown
She picks it leaves it hoping the sun will come
Nothing comes after you didn't know that
Lovers have gone home losers are waiting
Endlessly hunting nothing is happening
Searching for something unknown
Searching for something unknown