Show Me

I would like to see All that no one knows Just to see the reason We must feel alone Walking on my path I don't do much more than that Where to put my mind Lord show me a sign Show me suffering Humankind can bring Show me what's inside So I can see things right Show me I woke up to you In a love and groove I fell off my mind Running around inside Love has such an energy Guaranteed to keep the world afloat Here here Here here When I start to run inside I must still come out I must hold my head up high And know all these things They can change With love They can change With love They can change With love
