

You Should Come Over

54-40

You live your life inside imaginary lines
No one can see them
Move in a made up land and get surprised
When you see me there
We gotta breathe the same air in the sky
Ain't that a shame
If you want love you should come over
I'd like some time to be by your side
You look like you could lean on a shoulder
And leave the walls behind
In a world that you make believe
There's no one you can reach unless you come down some
If you need to have a dream
Make it for more than one to be included
We gotta share the same space and time
Ain't that a shame
If you want love you should come over
I'd like some time to be by your side
You look like you could lean on a shoulder
And leave the walls behind
We can't all be who we think we are
Ain't that a shame
