

Enter A Dream

7Days

Necessary evil and necessary pain
Sold every day
In the name of justice
They will seek to drain
Their will by God

The scale of balance
Will never be even
Justice was never there
Like in an illusion
We play truth or dare
Winning is all
In the eyes of the world

Tear down all fences to see my aim
Bring this dying world into oblivion
Within a dream of another world
Where all I live for still remain

Why would I want to be just like you?
Dressed in false ideals
Your spell now's broken
Now that you are gone
Your voice unheard

The scale of balance
Not an illusion
Winning is all
In the eyes of the world

Tear down all fences to see my aim
Bring this dying world into oblivion
Within a dream of another world
Where all I live for still remain

And as the pain grows
Your true identity comes clear
Through lands of decay you run
And the passion has you released

Tear down all fences to see my aim
Bring this dying world into oblivion
Within a dream of another world
Where all I live for still remain