

I will not be the one
You will not see me run
For cover away from you
But I will find the way

What brings them the right
To tell us what is wrong
What brings them the right
To be offended by those words

You're casting your pearls before the swine
Where do you find
Time and the strength to pull it through?

No, I will not be the one
You will not see me run
For cover away from you
But I will find the way

I cling to what you said
Somehow I feel it's true
No matter what they say,
I refuse to run no more

You're casting your pearls before the swine
Where do you find
Time and the strength to make it through?

No, I will not be the one
You will not see me run
For cover away from you
But I will find the way

I have found myself
Now that you are gone
I am not grieving for you
I have opened the door

No, I will not be the one
You will not see me run
For cover away from you
But I will find the way

No, I will not be the one...