

Too Many

88 Fingers Louie

My insecurity catches up on me again
I start to shiver when you yell at me again
So many times I've felt that I've done nothing wrong
This endless battle has me singing the same song

Too many days and nights
I've ran away when I was told I wasn't right
Too many days and nights

I've started thinking that I made a big mistake
You're never home and that's a chance I cannot take
I start to think that maybe you're with someone else
If I can't trust you I don't wanna trust myself

Too many days and nights
I've ran away when I was told I wasn't right
Too many days and nights

I've kissed and made up with you for the hundredth time
Is this the end or is it just another sign
That maybe me and you can get another chance
I for one just really hope that it'll last

Too many days and nights
I've ran away when I was told I wasn't right
Too many days and nights

Too many, too many
Too many days
