

The Love That You've Been Looking For

98 Degrees

Lonely, that's not how we're meant to be
But looking in your eyes I see A heart that was abandoned by a world that used to show you love
You feel like you're the only one Whose day begins without the sun
You're left to turn and face it all alone

Well, I know sometimes it seems as if fate has done you wrong
But if you look inside your heart you'll find the strength to carry on

You've got to leave it all behind you Break through those lonely chains that bind you
'Cause love's not far away, it's gonna find your heart someday
And when you feel it's warmth surround you You'll realize that love has found you
So turn away your fears
'Cause the love that you've been looking for is here

Suddenly, your broken heart begins to see a love that lasts eternally Just look ahead and never ever let a single tear drop from your eye
It breaks my heart to see you cry
The pain that haunts you every night
Because of all the emptiness inside

Well, I know sometimes it seems as if your heart is caving in But if we look inside the soul we'll find the love we have with in

I know sometimes when things go wrong
You search for strength carry on
But all we need to take control
Is the love within my soul
'Cause you know that love will find a way
To reach your heart again someday
You must believe it's true
Now all you have to do :