

Was It Something I Didn't Say

98 Degrees

Spending another night alone
Wondering when I'm gonna ever see you again Thinking what I would give to get you back baby
I should have told you how I felt then
Instead I kept it to myself, yea
I let my love go unexpressed
'Til it was too late
You walked away

Was it something I didn't say
When I didn't say "I Love You"
Was it words that you never heard
All those words I should have told you All those times, all these nights when I had the chance to
Was it something I didn't say

Always assumed that you'd be there Couldn't foresee the day you'd ever be leaving me
How could I let my world slip through my hands baby
I took for granted that you knew, yea
All of the love I had for you, yea
I guess you never had a clue
'Til it was too late
You walked away

All the words were in my heart
They went unspoken
Baby now my silent heart is a heart that's broken Shoulda let you know you're the one
I needed near me
But I never let you hear me