

I'm gonna tell you what you don't want to hear You're gonna hear the truth
You're gonna find out how life can be so unfair Don't let them try to take control of you
Stand tall and walk with pride
Believe in yourself and good things will come to you
Live your life how you feel is right
Weigh the consequences and think before you do Before you know it your youth is gone Responsibility has found its way to you
So while you're still young take full advantage Pack your days with memories to bring along with you
I know that when I look back It will always bring a smile to my face
And as I look to the future I see so many more that I can hardly wait

Growing old doesn't mean that the fun has to end We all grow old now's the time to let the good times begin

Don't let your life slip by
I know there's still a million things I want to try before I die
The time has come to seize the day
Do what you want and do it now tomorrow may be too late

Growing old doesn't mean that the fun has to end We all grow old now's the time to let the good times begin
