

Burning, Emotionless

A Canorous Quintet

sanctuary for me has been banished I search for forgiveness which I can not find loosing myself, I am drained out of life the silkblack shadows will take my mind sadness and sorrow take my hands as I ride the wings of destiny the grief of others I share with pain twisting and turning i'm longing for death i'm within the blackest of black all my wounds will burn me in flames at the end of the rope i'll hang to be free loosing myself, I am drained out of life

the silkblack shadows will take my mind

you hide from the daylight, to shine the dark lost in my own world of predestined fate oh how I long to feel i'm burning inside the ashers remain a hollow and empty shell all alone, forever I am the tender kiss of life I have never felt, nor will I feel embraced by death,

my last breath I take the only one to whisper goodbye is death that I greet whith my empty heart

embraced by death,
my last breath I take
the only one to whisper goodbye
is death that I greet whith my empty heart
all love is lost as I desolve in the wind in vain I am gone and that I regret forgive but don't forget

(all love is lost as I desolve in the wind
in vain i'm gone and that I regret forgive but don't forget)