

A Farewell To A Friendship

A Change of Pace

In a dream in a place of the far reaches of this mind
I have seen a true nightmare with a kiss of lovers' lips
One a friend the other just a memory
It still hurts when I think that once she was mine

Because I'm lost for words with one last breath
For me to take from you
Now gasp for air,
There's nothing left,
For me to take from you

I guess it's only right to give someone what they need
Even if it's nothing they ever wanted in the first place
I've seen with my own eyes the hurt and pain
That love causes that's why I won't let you go
Down that road to emotional overdose
If I had her again everything would be alright
But nothing's alright and nothing's okay
When you live in a memory

I'm lost for words with one last breath
For me to take from you
Now gasp for air,
There's nothing left,
For me to take from you

Just a breakdown of the heart
A loss for words that won't mean a thing
The tragic ending a Farewell To A Friendship
That meant nothing at all
You let her in, You let her win
Is there anything else
To break or bend a bond as strong as ours
Now hollow all throughout

I'm lost for words with one last breath
For me to take from you
Now gasp for air
There's nothing left
For me to take from you

From you.....