December

A Change of Pace

should have seen this coming you're way too good for anyone but me think about it because we know you do we start in december we'll end in november this time we start in december we'll end in november this time september came too fast too soon you'll run out of lies all options have run dry cause you're alone i hope you suffer we know that you know that we miss

for you, i'd kill

we start in december we'll end in november this time september came too soon
