Holdin' It Down for the Underground

Been through a lot this last year

A Day to Remember

Like everything I love is slipping away And every time I come home Somebody it isn't there I got to get it together I got to do things for myself I've giving everything Plus you take some from me I need some room to breath Come on come on You know this isn't what we planned on Come on come on Tell me will be ok (will be ok) Lets go back lets go back To a time where I Still felt I had a family This isn't what I remember Everyone is looking Out for just themselves And need be I'd be happy to leave I see straight through That smile straight through That painted face Don't think I can't tell Which one of you is against me Come on come on You know this isn't what we planned on Come on come on Tell me will be ok (will be ok) Lets go back lets go back To a time where I Still felt I had a family I am the greatest thing that falls I turn my back and look at the walls? Pay attention!!!! Come on come on You know this isn't what we planned on Come on come on Tell me will be ok (will be ok) Lets go back lets go back To a time where I Still felt I had a family Been through a lot this last year Like everything I love is slipping away
