Same About You

A Day to Remember

I just felt a wave, an emotion,
And right then I knew that everything had changed
A whole side of you that went missing, gone
And all I'd thought of you is wrong

Gotta step away, for perspective Need to take a chance to clear my head Don't wanna understand your position Oughta wash my hands of you and run

Think I lost my nerve Like I lost you Held trapped by what we were

No, I'll never feel the same Same about you, same about you No, I'll never feel the same Same about you, same about you

Spent time today reminiscing
Think I learned a lot about who we are Couldn't diagnose your condition
But now I see the signs you've left behind

Think I lost my nerve Like I lost you And the truth remains [?]

No, I'll never feel the same Same about you, same about you No, I'll never feel the same Same about you, same about you

Some roads you can't come back from when you extract truth from the lie

No, I'll never feel the same Same about you, same about you No, I'll never feel the same Same about you, same about you