

Living Dead

A Global Threat

hungry from the pain nothing in your brain alive again from the acid rain crawl out of the sewer drain we're animated skeletons it's everyday life that keeps us zombified we build our own doomsday looking for some fun with eyes for everyone gotta break out of this daze cause we're the living dead eat what you've fed, working living dead go home to your box lying in the dark, you know you played the part you broke your back if you can't walk away wish you could live it up born spoon in mouth but i guess you're stuck it's a great time to be buried alive will you dig your way out? you're living dead
and if these dead walk these gravestone blocks the survivors might see the night that they lose their life and they'll be the living dead
