

The Future's Right in Front of Me

A Great Big World

I spent my life trying to answer to the voice inside my head
But all I found were empty questions from a time that I forget

I learned my lesson, it was wrong of me to look so far ahead
I'll count my blessings one by one, I'll live a life I won't regret

And now I finally see the future's right in front of me, yeah
And now I finally see the future's right in front of me, yeah

I walked alone, I was scared of who I knew that I could be
But there was beauty in the darkest parts of my uncertainty

And now I finally see the future's right in front of me, yeah
And now I finally see the future's right in front of me, yeah
I feel it beating in my heart
The future's right in front of me, yeah
I feel it beating in my heart
The future's right in front of me, yeah
