A Life Divided

on and on and on and on this road goes on and leads you far away
-a better place-don't hold on keep moving on and on this road won't lead you astray
-on your way-city lights behind they did collide in hazy sights
as you left all alone
-as you left home-rear view mirror's black in black don't you cry
just look ahead to hope
-it's oh so cold-

you - you're on the way

on and on through unfamiliar landscapes you've never seen before -don't hide no more-passing by these strange and foreign faces guide you to the shore
-and open doors-
the place you wanna be is free from everything but peace and dreams without variety
-now you're free-longing for your better days you broke out of your captivity
-just to breathe-

you'll see the sunlight again feel the spring when you arrive the sun disturbs your weary eyes forget the past and look inside there's so much more you realize
