A Thorn For Every Heart

Pieces are raining down on me.
Won't wait, We can't believe in this or anything at all.
After what you did, why would I care? Why should I care?
After the pain you caused, why would I care? Why should I care?

I've waited for this so long, why would I care? Why should I care?

Loneliness, sadness, and solitude
These are a few of the things I've been through
Waiting for anything, everyday
Strange that you don't seem to feel the same way
Write me off, bury me, leave me for dead
Open wide, eat your words, choke on regret

After all you did, why would I care? Why should I care?
After, the pain you caused, why would I care? Why should I care?
I've waited for this so long, why should I care? Why should I care?

Look through me (Tragedys not so bad)
Remember what was left (Taking me down and more)
Take all I give to you
After what I've been through
Go ahead take it all (I honestly don't care at all)
Set up and ready to fall (Let it fall)
