Every Day

Aaron Neville

Every day along about noon Oh how I'm dreaming of the day That I'll be home soon

And every day along about one Oh how I remember how we used to have fun

And every day along about two Whoa how I'm so lonely in a world so blue

And every day now along about three When I'm dreaming of a day that I'll be free

And every day along about four But I cry, whoa I cry, till I can cry no more

And every day along about five I'm writing you a letter with a tear in my eye

And every day whoa just about six Whoa how I remember how we used to kiss

And every, every, every day now Oh how it reminds me of you Whoa I want to tell you, please listen to me Cause I love you, love you, I love you
