Reality

Aaron Neville

Even though we're apart, you're still right here in my heart Your hands are still in mine I can still hear you whispering words divine

I can feel your warm embrace

Just the thought of it puts a smile upon my face

But my imagination

Whoa, I said it's so strong

But reality keeps assuring me I'm all alone

But now from my lips comes a song with tears in my eyes 'Cause now you're gone, so all your sweet talk...

Even though we're apart, you're still right here in my heart My imagination, oh, I said it's so strong

But reality keeps assuring me that I'm all alone

My imagination, oh, so strong
But reality keeps assuring me that I'm all alone