

Arm Your Eyes

Aaron

I need to walk just as far as tomorrow,
Until the dawn seizes my hand,
Where can our shadows go lay down their sorrow,
When our souls take the wind.

Did you know the sun,
Was made out of our cries,
Each tear we drop is gold and,
This is how it shines.

The world leans in a sense that I can't follow,
Too many rules for one man,
I wonder,
How can we fit in a place that we don't know,
Life has no master no plan,
Hey stranger.

Did you know the sun,
Was made out of our cries,
Each tear we drop is gold and,
This is how it shines.

My skin is young, And my eyes were full of hope,
But I've seen the dark of the day,
I need a shore, Just one trail I could follow,
Far from the fog in my head,
Hey stranger.

Did you know the sun,
Was made out of our cries,
Each tear we drop is gold and,
This is how it shines.

Arm your eyes, to see through mine,
Arm your eyes, to see through mine...