

Do you ever go home to a place
Where you dont belong
Where the feeling of neglect
Can be oh so strong
Where everything you try to say
Or do is always fucking wrong
When everything around you
Is a sad sad sad song

I did not choose to be here
I know im your regret
But ill paint your blackened walls clear
So youll never forget

So dance with me
On these broken dreams
If only, if only these walls could scream

I did not choose to be here
And I know im your regret
But ill paint your blackened walls clear
So youll never forget

Forget the broken promises
This is now our fate
Not knowing why theyre given
Power to create
When broken is the only word
In which you can relate
When everything you love became
The only thing you hate

So cmon cmon and dance with me
On these broken dreams
If only, if only these walls could scream

I did not choose to be here
And I know im your regret
But ill paint your blackened walls clear
So youll never forget

I wanna see you all burn.