

Born At The Wrong Time

Abney Park

I'm a stranger everywhere I go
From Washington to Tokyo
Angry eyes tell me I don't fit in
I smile back but I can not win

So I stand tall, and face the scorn
It's not the place but the time I was born
The road ahead, may be filled with hate
But I know my path and I walk it straight

I was born, born at the wrong time
And I live, here at the wrong time
I was born, born at the wrong time
And I live, here at the wrong time

When I hear the countless voices whine
I can't believe it's even worth the time
I get angry for the things I see
This is not the way the world's supposed to be

So I stand tall, and face the scorn
It's not the place but the time I was born
The road ahead, may be filled with hate
But I know my path and I walk it straight

I was born, born at the wrong time
And I live, here at the wrong time
I was born, born at the wrong time
And I live, here at the wrong time

I think there's not a place where I can go
But I'll be damned if I'll follow the flow
Angry minds have built an angry time
It seems the worlds is used to what was once a crime

So I stand tall, and face the scorn
It's not the place but the time I was born
The road ahead, may be filled with hate
But I know my path and I walk it straight

I was born, born at the wrong time
And I live, here at the wrong time
I was born, born at the wrong time
And I live, here at the wrong time

I look back
I look forward
And I see, it all makes sense
