

We're the nomads, the Neobedouins I don't want to end up dead a gain On this night we've traveled far. Over a desert wasteland, prairie grassland. Traversed the silken desert sands. We've survived this global scar.

Running daily, hunted nightly, I know we must stay sprightly, Our members thinning every day. So in tether we dance together. Our bonds have forged all weather. Ours is the law that we obey!

And so we dance We play We fight We run We breathe We last The storm! We dance We play We fight We run We breathe We last The storm!

Running daily, hunted nightly We know we must stay sprightly Our members thinning day by day So in tether we dance together. Our bonds have forged all weather. Ours is the law that we obey!

And so we dance We play We fight We run We breathe We last The storm! We dance We pray We fight We run We breathe We outlast The storm!

We're the nomads, the Neobedouins I don't want to end up dead a gain On this night we've traveled far. Over a desert wasteland, prairie grassland, Traversed the silken desert sands. We've survived this global scar!

And so we dance We play We fight We run We breathe We last The storm! We dance We play We fight We run We breathe We last The storm!