Acid Drinkers

... Everybody listen to me You better stop, don't start me up To battle 2000 years many pretext to fight 2000 years when one came to unite We always fight over what we should say Why can't we see that we're on the same way So many years so much wasted time Lets not repeat the mistakes of the past To reconcile there's a chance everyday Why can't we see that we're on the same way ... Everybody listen to me You better stop, don't start me up To battle 2000 years so much division and hate Why can't we see all the things we agree Always the same that's not what I say Why can't we see that we're on the same way 2000 years many pretext to fight 2000 years when one came to unite We always fight over what we should say Why can't we see that we're on the same way ... Everybody listen to me You better stop, don't start me up To battle 2000 years many pretext to fight 2000 years when one came to unite We always fight over what we should say Why can't we see that we're on the same way You better stop, don't start me up To battle
