

Don't try so hard to find your way there,
Because you'll find that there is just here.
And here is always the same, the place you want to escape.
It's not the walls that will change, it's the color of the paint.

After all, it's the grass that looks so green,
Cause the other side's never as good as it seems.

Don't let your eyes lead your mind
From what your heart feels is right,
Or what you want out of life
Will change like the weather.

After all it's the grass that looks so green,
Cause the other side's never as good as it seems.

You want what you have and more, cause we are only people.
It's something you can't ignore, yeah we are only people.
So bring on the heavy clouds...

That seem to circle your house
And keep the rain coming down,
But soon enough it will dry
In the warmth of the sunlight.

After all it's the grass that looks so green,
Cause the other side's never as good as it seems. (3x)