

Shattered

Adema

Do you wake up and wonder where you're really going
Retry aging in life you wanted to achieve your goals
Now confusion it lingers
Making me feel sick to my stomach
Because who knows what will happen next
I shattered into pieces in this world
I shattered into pieces in this world

This world your world my world
Confusion it lingers a fear of loathing that I regret
Because who knows what will happen next
I shattered into pieces in this world

This world your world my world
Confusion it lingers a fear of loathing that I regret
Because who knows what will happen next
I shattered into pieces in this world

This world your world my world
I shattered into pieces in this world

This world your world my world
Confusion it lingers a fear of loathing that I regret
Because who knows what will happen next
I shattered into pieces in this world

This world your world my world
What do you want in life
Who you have planned for the future I wonder does anything matter
Gives luck on the same old day out and sorrow hold on
To your gold or you'll have nothing

This world your world my world
Confusion it lingers a fear of loathing that I regret
Because who knows what will happen next
I shattered into pieces in this world

You'll have nothing you'll have nothing you'll have.... nothing
Why have I shattered into pieces in this world
I shattered into pieces in this world

This world your world my world
Confusion it lingers a fear of loathing that I regret
Because who knows what will happen next
I shattered into pieces in this world

This world your world my world
I shattered into pieces in this world

This world your world my world
Confusion it lingers a fear of loathing that I regret
Because who knows what will happen next
I shattered into pieces in this world

This world your world my world

I shattered into pieces in this world

This world your world my world
Confusion it lingers a fear of loathing that I regret
Because who knows what will happen next
I shattered into pieces in this world

This world your world my world!