The Everyday Limbo

Adhesive

When things go wrong, as they sometimes will When the road you're walking seems all uphill When the cost of living leaves you wondering why You'd like to crack a smile, but you have to cry

When all the world is looming dark And things seem not so clear When the shadows seem to hover around Take the challenge, don't have no fear

This life is odd, with it's twists and turns
It's something almost everyone someday will learn
But don't you ever give in, though the pace seems slow
You've got to take this challenge with another blow

When all the world...