

One Solitary Life

Admiral Twin

Daylight falls too hard.
I can't believe my eyes, what...what have I done?
Should've never lost control.
I smashed away the good old days, and I can never go home.
I wish that I could

tear out a page...
take back the words that got away.
I'll take the blame
for one solitary life.

Cold fright, something's wrong.
I thought it was my right, what...what have I done?
I can't mend what I've torn apart.
I cut the line one last time,
and now I've fallen too far.
I wish that I could

tear out a page...
take back the words that got away.
I'll take the blame for one solitary life.

No excuse. No surprise.
Morning has broken me down and cut me to size.

I wish that I could tear out a page...
take back the words that got away.
I'll take the blame for one solitary life.
One solitary life.

No place left to hide
One solitary life?