The Interspace Between Us

die for me, you worthless lying machine leaving you to breathe would be only another sin living without you is the life I can realize the interspace between us is like hell from paradise Aeon