

So quickly draining away.
If you could only hear all the things you used to say.
Consumed now by what you knew was poisonous, quenching your thirst for life (for life.)

Will you die,
die for me?
Will you live,
live for me?

Kill aspirations away.
Embrace a dream that was a nightmare only yesterday.
True friends forgotten and all hopes been traded in,
exchanging them all for what. for what, for what

will you die, die for me?
will you live, live for me?

die for me,
you gave it all away
live for me,
you gave it all away
all at once,
you gave it all away
all is lost

will you die, die for me?
die for me
will you live, live for me?
live for me
will you die, die for me?
die for me
will you live, live for me?
all is lost
