

Yield to Temptation

After Forever

They told you not to yield to temptation and opened their arms.

..

...Make your own inferences...

Inscrutable chaos in my head

Inevitably

Greed will take its toll

Why

There's no place to hide

Let me free myself

The anathema's driving millions

together in the pustules of our earth

Greed and self-denial the cause of unimpeded desecration of the truth

They told you not to yield to temptation

but offered you only hypocrisy and ruin

The phantom of damnation threw her coat over humanity

Captive in the shackles of this indoctrination depraved souls wished to be pure

Delight in deformity the last convulsions are building up a bridge to a new era

The assumption of a faded supposition

Never shall I be a marionette!

The embrace that smothers...
