

Disconnect

After Midnight Project

Something has to change
We're falling further down the drain tonight
Flashing lights on billboard signs trashy clubs and careless mi nds we're alone
This filthy floor's a lonely bed while traffics roaring in my h ead again
I disconnect in to a dream
In a life that would seem
Just to real and overseen

I don't need another friend
(I'm trying with out you)
This could be our very last dance
(I breath you I feel you)
You stole my eyes at first glance
I don't need another friend

Maybe we're not as well put together as we thought
Oh well
I'm dancing in the pouring rain with a smile and a touch of pai n
it's Hell

I Disconnect I know tried
But no one else sees out
I'm caving in and I'm giving up
What else can I do?
I gave everything to you
The demons, the gods will have their way

I don't need another friend
(I'm trying with out you)
This could be our very last dance
(I breath you I feel you)
You stole my eyes at first glance
I don't need another friend

All I am is wrong and All we had is gone

I don't need another friend
(I'm dying with out you)
This could be our very last dance
(I breath you I feel you)
You stole my eyes at first glance
and I don't need another friend
