

Wilted

After Midnight Project

Im spinning around
Im out of control
Im digging myself a familiar hole
All Ive got on my mind is your face
But youre gone tonight
Tonight, tonight, tonight
I walked into your empty room
A different scent a different mood
I got on my knees
Put my head to the ground and begged please

Dont take the covers of your bed
I dont want you to forget
I just want you to remember all the times we spent
Dancing off our feet
Pulling on the sheets

Oh we need each other to go on
Im tired of waking up alone
Lets run away
If you take me back my love I swear Ill change

Ive been trying to get my life in gear but my bodies too weak
My words, unclear
Im falling apart from myself
But myself is the only thing that will take me back
Back to you
Back to love
Back to life
Back to us
Building memories that only we can touch

Dont take our photos off the wall
If its meant to be they'll fall
But I promise that ill save them in a book for when
You come back my way
Well just turn to the last page

Oh we need each other to go on
Im tired of waking up alone
Lets run away
If you take me back my love I swear Ill change

Doors closing
Wilting roses
Her tears run dry
Time save me
Voice helps her to hear me cry

Dont take the covers off your bed
The photos off your wall
Dont change anything at dont change anything at all