

All the words that I never said to you
They keep running through this troubled head of mine
I sit and drown myself in my selfishness
I'll get my dying wish, you and nothing less
I thought I showed you
But I ignored you
And now you'll never ever know.

Because my words don't come easy to me
But my heart really wants you to know
That its love beats so naturally for you,
But I can't let you know

I'll keep tearing you apart, inside and out
I'll waste your energy that you keep providing me
You make sure to let me know that you're the rest of me
But who's kidding who, I'll be the death of you
I want to protect you, devote this life to you
The problem is you'll never know.

Because my words don't come easy to me
But my heart really wants you to know
That its love beats so naturally for you,
But I can't let you know

How far can I break you down (so far down)
Don't let me take us underground (I'm so far down)
Try your best to get away (I'm so far down)
I want to fix what I've undone

But my words don't come easy to me
And my heart really wants you to know
That its love beats so naturally for you,
But I can't let you know

Oh yeh my words don't come easy to me
And my heart really wants you to know
I'm dying for you
I'm dying for you
I'm dying for you
I'm dying for you to know
